INTRODUCTION

A. What is Contact Centre Operations?

The contact centre industry is one of the fastest growing industries in South Africa. Contact centres evolve daily. The concept is that of an ongoing, organised "set" of human resources, procedures and methods designed to generate, analyse, disseminate, store and retrieve information. Contact centres comprehensively and seamlessly integrate every facet of business relating to the customer, whether this be marketing, sales, customer service or field support, by integrating people, process and technology. The objective is to create a long-term, mutually beneficial relationship with customers.

B. Why is Contact Centre Operations important in the Marketing programme?

According to the Chartered Institute of Marketing, “Marketing is the management process responsible for identifying, anticipating and satisfying customer requirements; the satisfaction of consumer needs and wants becomes the rationale for everything the company does. If a company fails its customers, there is any number of rivals waiting to take over.”

Contact Centre Operations is the culmination of many different but related modern marketing developments. Clients communicate with companies through contact centres. In certain markets, there is little direct contact between producers and consumers. By collecting, analysing and interpreting facts, marketing research can find out what people want and why they want it. Clearly, marketing decisions are only as good as the information on which they are based. Marketing management uses information gathered by contact centres to plan and aid marketing decisions.

Adam Smith said in 1776: “Consumption is the sole end and purpose of all production and the interest of the producer ought to be attended to only so far as it may be necessary for promoting that of the consumer”.

C. The link between the Contact Centre Operations Learning Outcomes and the Critical and Developmental Outcomes

Marketing effectiveness depends on communication, which means identifying and solving problems in reading and written activities and working effectively with others using interactive speech through a process of developing language capability across language applications in principles and strategies.

To contribute to the personal development of each student or employee and the social and economic development of the society, it must be the intention underlying any programme of learning including Contact Centre Operations to make an individual aware of the importance of:

- reflecting on and exploring a variety of strategies to learn and solve problems effectively;
- participating as responsible citizens in the life of local, national and global communities; and
- being culturally and aesthetically sensitive across a range of social contexts.

D. Factors that contribute to achieving Contact Centre Operations Learning Outcomes

A student who is interested in marketing aims for an integrated approach, which embraces new opportunities in a dynamic, action-driven manner, based on an overall business philosophy. A consumer-orientated student provides customer satisfaction to achieve business objectives. This programme requires students with exceptional behaviour, who can work under pressure and stay focused and who possess good decision-making, communication and interpersonal skills. Customer relationship management, internal marketing and customer care form a fully integrated system.

Contact centres play a vital role in eradicating e-illiteracy and narrowing the digital gap in Africa.
1 DURATION AND TUITION TIME
This is a one year instructional programme comprising 200 teaching and learning hours. The subject may be offered on a part-time basis provided the candidate meets all of the assessment requirements. Course preparation should consider students with special education needs (LSEN).

2 SUBJECT LEVEL FOCUS
Deal with customer queries and complaints

3 ASSESSMENT REQUIREMENTS

3.1 Internal assessment (50 percent)

3.1.1 Theoretical component
The theoretical component will form 40 percent of internal assessment.
Internal assessment of the theoretical component of Contact Centre Operations Level 4 will take the form of observation, class questions, group work, (informal group competitions with rewards), individual discussions with students, class, topic- and semester tests, and internal examinations. Daily observations can be made when marking assignments of the previous day and class questions.
Assignments, case studies and tests can be done at the end of a topic. Tests and internal examinations must form part of internal assessment.

3.1.2 Practical component
Practical components include applications, exercises and assignments. All practical components must be indicated in a Portfolio of Evidence (PoE).
The practical components will form 60 percent of internal assessment.
Internal assessment of the practical component of Contact Centre Operations Level 4 will take the form of assignments, practical exercises, case studies, practical examination in a simulated business environment.
Students may complete practical assignments on a daily basis. Assignments and case studies can also be done at the end of a topic. Practical examination can form part of internal practical assessment.

- Some examples of practical assessments include, but are not limited to:
  - Presentations (lectures, demonstrations, group discussions and activities, practical work, observation, role play, independent activity, syntheses and evaluation)
  - Exhibitions by students
  - Visits undertaken by students based on a structured assignment task
  - Research
  - Task performance in a simulated/structured environment

- Definition of the term “Structured Environment”
“Structured environment” for the purpose of assessment refers to an actual or simulated workplace, or workshop environment. It is advised that a practicum room is available on each campus for practical assessment.

- Evidence in practical assessments
All evidence pertaining to evaluation of practical work must be reflected in the student’s PoE. The tools and instruments constructed and used for the purpose of conducting such assessments must be clear form evidence contained in the PoE.

3.1.3 Processing of internal assessment mark for the year
A year mark out of 100 is calculated by adding the marks of the theoretical component and the practical component of the internal continuous assessment.
3.1.4 Moderation of internal assessment mark
Internal assessment is subjected to both internal and external moderation procedures as contained in the National Examinations Policy for FET College Programmes.

3.2 External assessment (50 percent)
A national examination is conducted annually in October or November by means of a paper set, marked and moderated externally.

Details in respect of external assessment are contained in the Assessment Guidelines: Contact Centre Operations (Level 4).

5 CALCULATION OF FINAL MARK

Internal assessment: Student’s mark/100 x 50 = a mark out of 50 (a)
Examination mark: Student’s mark/100 x 50 = a mark out of 50 (b)
Final mark: (a) + (b) = a mark out of 100

All marks are systematically processed and accurately recorded in order to be available as hard copy evidence for, amongst others, purposes of moderation and verification, as well as purposes of reporting.

6 PASS REQUIREMENTS
The student must obtain at least fifty (50) percent in ICASS and fifty percent (50) in the examination.
