2. INTRODUCTION

2.1 Background

A dictionary of terms and concepts is a prerequisite for the effective functioning of any information system. It provides a standard for the terms and concepts used by an organisation in its information collection and reporting processes.

This dictionary seeks to standardise terms and concepts that are commonly used in education in South Africa, especially in its Education Management Information System (EMIS) processes. Consequently, many of the definitions provided reflect the EMIS environment. The dictionary clarifies the language used by officials working in the EMIS terrain. The dictionary harmonises different terms currently used to describe the same concept.

The dictionary is designed to be both technical and broadly usable.

On the technical side, specifications are provided that will assist in the design of databases, the development of survey instruments, data analysis and report writing. Systems designers are expected to use the dictionary to gain an idea of the logic of the education system, and to ensure that standards are adhered to as closely as possible. Education departments should require systems designers doing work for them to adhere to the standards embodied in the dictionary. Deviations should be permissible, but within limits, and only in instances where they are necessary for the quality of the system being developed. Designers of electronic school management systems not employed by the education departments will be encouraged to use the dictionary to standardise their products, and education departments will encourage schools to buy only products that are standardised.

The dictionary will also serve a larger audience. Programme managers at both national and provincial levels can draw on the dictionary to clarify the meanings of terms they come across as part of their work. The dictionary will be particularly beneficial to programme managers who undertake surveys of their own, especially in the development of questionnaires and the analysis of data. Information users both within and outside education departments will better understand and interpret the data they encounter. Researchers will be able to engage with data obtained from the Department of Basic Education in an informed manner.

The compilers of the dictionary have drawn on a number of sources. Priority has been given to the Department of Basic Education’s own legislative and policy documents. In the absence of definitions in official sources, the compilers have sought advice from the Department of Basic Education programme managers. Statistics South Africa’s standard terminology has been adopted where relevant.

The UNESCO Institute of Statistics, UNESCO’s International Standard Classification of Education (ISCED) and the OECD’s glossaries have been fruitful sources of international definitions.

The Department of Basic Education has undertaken an extensive process of consultation in order to achieve a broad level of consensus for the dictionary definitions. The Department’s Education Information Standards Committee, established in 2004 (Government Gazette 26710, August 2004), which includes inter alia, two representatives from Statistics South Africa and three from Provincial Education Departments, has engaged thoroughly with each definition, and by consensus has proposed what it believes to be appropriate.

Much appreciation is expressed to Statistics South Africa for permitting their officials to engage in all the work related to the dictionary. Statistics South Africa has played its role in accordance with Section 7 (2) (e) of the Statistics Act, 1999, which states: “The Statistician-General must…formulate quality criteria and establish standards, classifications and procedures for statistics”.

Additionally, both internal and inter-provincial consultative processes have been undertaken to promote coherence at horizontal and vertical levels of the system. Over and above these processes, the draft dictionary was published in the Government Gazette for public comment and the Education Information Standards Committee considered all comments received. The committee expresses its appreciation to all who contributed.
2.2 Scope and applicability

The scope and applicability of the dictionary is affected by recent changes in the administration of the education and training sector. From 1994 to 2009 the national Department of Education was responsible for all formal education and the Department of Labour was responsible for skills development in the labour market. Following national elections in April 2009 the new government established two departments to administer the education and training sector.

The new Department of Basic Education (DBE) is responsible for the school system and adult literacy. This dictionary is published by the DBE.

The new Department of Higher Education and Training (DHET) is responsible for Higher Education Institutions (HEIs), Further Education and Training (FET) Colleges and Adult Basic Education and Training (ABET) Centres. It is also responsible for the system of workforce skills development, including the National Skills Authority (NSA), the Sector Education and Training Authorities (SETAs), trade testing centres and skills development institutes that had previously been developed and managed by the Department of Labour.

The dictionary is directed largely at the school system; however, it does include some definitions relating to FET Colleges, ABET Centres and HEIs, although these bodies are now the responsibility of the DHET. Such definitions are included as a matter of practical convenience since they relate to the legacy of statistical reporting by the Department of Education.

The dictionary is largely for the use of persons working in the EMIS environment and programme managers in national and provincial Departments of Basic Education. Other information system developers, researchers and stakeholders who utilise the Departments information and data will also find it helpful.

2.3 Conventions followed in the dictionary

This section needs to be understood if the dictionary is to be utilised correctly. Each entry in the definition section has the following elements:

Term: label for the concept

Definition: a short definition of the term or concept

Source: the source for the definition. The reference section at the end of the dictionary lists all sources.

Note: comments on the usage of the term, where applicable

Cross reference: a link with other definitions

Reference code: each term has been assigned a unique code. These codes are continuous and will not change over time.

The dictionary must be used in conjunction with the Information Standard on Data Coding.

2.4 Changes to the dictionary

The Department of Basic Education plans to upgrade the dictionary every three years. In the meanwhile comments and suggestions are welcome on an ongoing basis.

You are welcome to submit comments to the EMIS Officer: definitions@dbe.gov.za.

Comments are particularly sought on:

- more appropriate definitions that should be incorporated in preference to those already listed;
- definitions for other concepts or terms that should also be included; or
- sources that are insufficiently detailed.

The Education Information Standards Committee will control changes, which will be gazetted at least every three years. In the meantime, a register of temporary definitions will be approved by the EMIS Officer.

2.5 How you can access the dictionary

- The dictionary is available on the Department of Basic Education’s website (www.education.gov.za). The electronic version is searchable using any pdf viewer or reader.

- A limited number of printed copies are available at the Resource Centre at the Department of Basic Education.
